To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great enthusiasm that I recommend The Way, a compassionate and dedicated non-profit organization that has made a meaningful difference for the families staying at the Ronald McDonald House Charities Charleston. Their volunteer team provides reliable transportation for families who otherwise have no means to get to important destinations such as Walmart for groceries and other necessities. Their kindness and flexibility ensure that families can focus on what matters most—the care and comfort of their children.

Beyond these essential rides, The Way has gone above and beyond to bring joy and normalcy to families facing difficult times. They have helped provide tickets to events such as Disney on Ice, Charleston RiverDogs baseball games, and the South Carolina Aquarium—creating lasting memories for children and parents alike. On one especially touching occasion, The Way helped a family by giving the patient's siblings a ride to school on their first day, ensuring that even amid hospital stays, life's important moments were not missed. Glenn and Matt have spearheaded this wonderful and needed project with heartfelt dedication and community spirit.

We are truly grateful for our growing collaboration with The Way as we continue to support families with critically ill children. Their compassion, reliability, and generosity embody the very best of community partnership. I wholeheartedly recommend The Way for any recognition, funding, or partnership opportunities that will allow them to continue expanding their invaluable mission.

Sincerely,

Jennene Koester
